

ABSTRACT:

The INVENTOR'S SYSTEM hereafter referred to as ("my invention") is an invention of Roy Pinney. My invention is a marketing program, composed of both hardware and software. It provides a consumer with advertising - supported stereo audio and video (with stereo audio) entertainment from around the world. The invention includes my sponsor's (purchaser/licensee of the invention) original audio and video programming content (infomercials). These are designed to sell and promote the sponsor's goods and services. The audio and video (with stereo audio) programming is delivered from the Internet via the consumer's home computer. It is wirelessly sent to his / her home stereo system and television set.